

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT VISA FEE TABLE

This is the International Student Visa Fee Table, as made pursuant to Clause 34 (1) of Ministerial Order 819 - Fees for Overseas Students in Government Schools

What is an international student?¹

An international student is an overseas national who comes to Australia on a visa that allows them to study in Australia.

They may come to Australia on a student visa with the express purpose of studying, such as a secondary student who intends to study their VCE at a Victorian government school, or as a dependant student who is in Australia with their parents, who are themselves studying in Victoria. Or they may be in Australia as a dependant on their parent's visa with a purpose other than studying, but their visa allows the dependant to study while in Australia.

Do international students need to pay fees?

Some international students need to pay fees to study in a Victorian government school and some students are exempt from paying fees, it all depends on the visa they hold.

Which international students pay fees?

It is very easy for you to work out which students need to pay fees. You must:

1. Obtain a copy of the student's visa grant notice from the student or parent.
2. Sight the visa grant notice yourself, take a copy and file in your records.
3. Check that the visa grant notice is in the student's name (students can have different visa types than their parents)
4. Check that the visa has not expired.
5. Refer to the visa fee table in the following pages. This table lists the different visa types in numerical order and tells you whether the visa holder is fee exempt or is required to pay fees and enrol in the International Student Program².

Please see the last two pages of this document for visa examples.

It is important to get this right because your school may not be paid for the cost of educating a student if they have not been correctly identified as fee liable by you and instructed to enrol in the International Student Program.

² See the Victorian Government Schools International Student Program website at www.study.vic.gov.au/en/how-to-apply/Pages/default.aspx.

What about Bridging Visas?

Bridging visas are issued when someone enters Australia on one type of visa and later applies for another visa. A bridging visa allows the applicant to stay in Australia lawfully once their original visa has expired and while the Department of Home Affairs makes a decision on their new visa application.

Whether a student is fee liable or fee exempt when they are on a bridging visa is determined by the visa held by the student immediately prior to receiving their bridging visa. If that visa was exempt from paying fees to study in a Victorian government school, the student does not need to pay fees while they are on the bridging visa. If that visa was fee liable, the student needs to pay fees and enrol in the International Student Program.

The international student needs to pay fees, now what?

Direct the student or their family to enrol in the International Student Program online via the Victorian Government Schools website³. The student cannot study at your school until they have applied to study in a Victorian government school and paid application and tuition fees in advance. Once the International Education Division confirms that the student has enrolled and paid tuition fees, the student can commence. You should record the student's details in CASES21, including the international student ID number provided by the International Education Division, and continue to monitor the student's visa status and visa expiry date.

The international student does not need to pay fees, now what?

The student can be enrolled and start immediately at your school. You do not need to enter an international student ID number against the student in CASES21. You must continue to monitor the student's visa status and visa expiry date and, if the student stays beyond their initial visa, you must check their new visa status for fee liability and keep a record of the student's new visa on file.

How do schools get paid for international students?

Schools receive funding for international students who are not required to pay school fees through student resource package (SRP) funding. This means the student should be counted in the school census to ensure the school is funded.

Schools receive funding for international students who are required to pay school fees from the International Education Division. Once full payment has been received from the student for each Semester, the funds are disbursed to schools on a quarterly basis. Schools are provided with a school disbursement report to show the disbursement breakdown for each international student. If the international student has not paid their tuition fees, the school is not paid until the fees have been received. This is why schools are asked to help follow up on any outstanding fees with the families of international students.

What about Protection Visa applicants?

An international student is not charged tuition fees to attend a government school in Victoria if they have applied for a Protection Visa. The student becomes fee exempt from the day the protection visa application is lodged. The family must provide evidence they have applied for a protection visa to the school and to the International Education Division if the student is already enrolled as a fee liable student. A copy of the evidence of lodgement should be emailed to international@edumail.vic.gov.au. Acceptable evidence of lodgement includes: a visa lodgement receipt or letter from the Red Cross (Asylum Seeker's Assistance Scheme) or Department of Home Affairs which clearly indicates that the student is included in the Protection visa application.

³ www.study.vic.gov.au

The school must continue to monitor the student's visa status. If the student's protection visa application is rejected by the Department of Home Affairs, the student may become fee liable again. Schools receive Student Resource Package funding for protection visa applicants. Please contact the International Education Division on 9637 2990 or via international@edumail.vic.gov.au if you have any questions about protection visa applicants.

Does a student need to pay fees if their parent is studying their Masters in Victoria?

Dependant children of a parent studying their Masters in Victoria may be fee exempt or fee liable – it all depends on the visa that the parent and student hold.

If the parent is studying their Masters in Victoria and the parent and student hold a 500 – Higher Education Visa, the student is fee liable.

If the parent is studying their Masters in Victoria and the parent and student hold a 500 – Postgraduate Research Visa, the student is fee exempt.

Does a student need to pay fees if their parent is an Australian Government or Victorian Higher Education Institution scholarship holder?

Dependant children of a parent studying in Victoria are fee exempt when studying in a Victorian government school if their parent is receiving a fully-funded award or scholarship from the Australian Government or from a Victorian Higher Education Institution which meets the full cost of the education component of the award and the parent and student hold a 500 – Higher Education Visa.

You are required to sight documentary evidence that the parent is receiving a full scholarship from the Australian Government or a Victorian Higher Education Institution and to contact the International Education Division on 9637 2990 or via international@edumail.vic.gov.au if you have a student you think qualifies for a fee exemption under these circumstances.

What is the school's responsibility regarding the enrolment of an international student?

It is the school's responsibility to:

1. Check whether a prospective student is an international student
2. Ensure that a current visa in the international student's name is sighted and a copy of this visa is kept on record
3. Use this visa table to determine whether the international student is fee liable or fee exempt
4. Record the student's details in CASES21
5. Instruct fee-liable students to enrol in the International Student Program before accepting the student's enrolment and commencement
6. Keep a track of the international student's visa expiry date and follow the student up when their visa is expiring
7. Check whether any new visas granted are fee liable or fee exempt.
